Holiday Mail Is Heavy But Under '57 Record

An overall 10 per cent drop in the volume of mails for this Christmas season as compared to 1957 was predicted today by Postmaster Orvil Hoover.

Mr. Hoover pointed out that so far this month a total of 397,970 pieces of mail had been handled by post office personnel while at the same time last year the figure stood at 462,650. This is a drop of 64,680.

The postmaster attributed the decline to the increased rates in postage and economic conditions. He said the sale of three-cent stamps now is comparable to the sale of two-cent stamps of last year but the sale of four-cent stamps now is not the same as was the sale of three-cent stamps prior to the increase in postal rates.

Bulganin Confesses Anti-Party Actions

United States Has Lead in Space Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlas triumph brings human space flight and astounding space laboratories a big step closer.

Sprung from well-kept secrecy, it could spur the Russians to push harder and faster in their always secret space plans.

Just 14½ months ago, man was still earthbound. Then Sputnik I startled, and shocked, the Western world.

Now the United States has scored a prodigious comeback. It possesses the heaviest as well as the most satellites. It has sent two probes nearly a third of the way to the moon.

Temporarily, America leads.

But the Soviet Union could play the next trump soon. Indeed, some space experts are puzzled why she hasn't done something spectacular since the 1½-ton Sputnik soared up last May.

Advances Accuracy
The main significance of Atlas is in advancing the ability accurately to thrust big and heavy satellites into space.

Big enough to carry men.

Big enough to watch the world's weather in the making through TV eyes, tracking hurricanes, vastly improving forecasts.

Plane Lost in Clouds Lands in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A United Airlines DC6 with 42 passengers aboard shepherded a single engine plane lost in a bank of clouds to safety late Thursday at Youngstown Municipal Airport.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sven Persson of Youngstown were in the single-engine Cessna when they ran into the heavy layer of clouds. Both had flying experience but had no instrument training. They were returning from Aspen, Colo.

Persson, flying at 8,000 feet, radioed the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) officer at the Youngstown airport and told of his problem. The officer, Roger Graves, advised Persson that a United airliner was due in the area shortly.

Then Graves diverted all other traffic, including jet planes from the airbase here, to Columbus. He called Capt. Joseph Matuna, the pilot on United Flight 917 from Philadelphia.

Both Persson and Matuna hooked up on the same radio frequency and the big craft gave out compass readings. The Cessna followed down through the two layers of clouds, landing first.

The United plane set down a few minutes later but 44 minutes behind schedule.

Soviet Premier said Premier Nikita Khrushchev was right in accusing him and four other ousted leaders of reactionary activities.

Khrushchev apparently staged the committee meeting public in immediately, Khrushchev took his case directly to the people, whom he is wooing with promises that industrial and agricultural innovations will men better living.

Designed to Discredit

Bulganin's confession and Khrushchev's own attacks on the five-man "anti-party group" are designed to discredit all who oppose Khrushchev.

Contrite speeches were one of the devices used by Stalin to discredit his opponents. They were a prelude to execution then. None of the anti-party five is known to have met a fate worse than banishment to a small-fry job in the provinces.

Former Premier Georgi Malenkov was last reported running a power station, former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was serving as ambassador to Outer Mongolia, former Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov was teaching school and onetime economic boss Lazar Kaganovich was running a factory.

Bulganin came out of semiretirement in southern Russia to speak again in the committee where once he was a prominent voice. As premier from 1955 until last March, while party boss Khrushchev actually ran the country, Bulganin's stout, goateed figure became world famous.

He traveled to India, Britain and other countries with Khrushchev. He posed for pictures with President Eisenhower in Geneva in 1955 and signed numerous letters to the White House.

But, Bulganin said Thursday, "when in 1957 the anti-party activities of (the other four) actively developed, I joined them." As premier, he added, "I not only became their accomplice but also nominally their leader."

Always a shrewd politician with an eye to his own and other people's intrigue, Khrushchev held off a showdown with the group in June 1957 until he could bring up enough party supporters to outvote and exile them. Bulganin then turned coat and ended up backing the winner, but he himself lasted only a few months longer.

He plunged from premier to director of the state bank to head of a regional economic council at Stavropol, a post he indicated he still held.

620 Expected to Die In Holiday Accidents

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council today estimated that 620 Americans will be killed in traffic accidents during the four-day Christmas holiday period.

The period will begin at 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday, Dec. 24, and will end at midnight Sunday Dec. 27.

"Those deaths need not occur and should not occur," the council said.

And it provided this prescription for driving and staying alive: Start early, cut speed to meet traffic and weather conditions, pull off the road if you feel tired or sleepy.

If you've been drinking, the council added, don't drive.

Traffic deaths during last year's Christmas holiday period of one day totaled 225.

The record death toll for a four-day Christmas holiday period was 706 in 1956.

Columbiana Farmer's Cow Sets Record

A nine-year-old Brown Swiss cow owned by Paul Witmer & Sons of Columbiana has set a new Ohio record for all breeds for butterfat production and a new national record for Brown Swiss.

V B Diplomats Regula produced an officially certified 26.121 pounds of 4.78 per cent butterfat milk on twice-a-day milking for 365 days. The butterfat weighed 1,249 pounds.

The test was supervised by Ohio State University and the National Brown Swiss Association.

Results were officially announced Thursday afternoon at Witmer's farm in Mahoning County at a gathering of OSU testers and dairy specialists, representatives of the Central Ohio Breeders Assn. and state and national officials of Brown Swiss organizations including Ray Griesheimer of Valley City president of Ohio Brown Swiss Canton 3.

Witmer bought his prize cow at a Springfield, O., auction in 1956 from the herd of Jake and Howard Voegel of Monticello, Wis.

The cow has produced only two heifer calves, one of which is in her first lactation in Witmer's herd of 34 milkers.

The production record is more than three times the Ohio average for all breeds.

Sputnik Is Dwarfed By 85-Foot Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, triumphant at hurling a four-ton satellite into orbit, raised its space sights another notch today.

The men who built the earth circling device, which dwarfs the Soviet Union's 1½-ton Sputnik III, talked about putting a man aboard another one and sending it to Venus or Mars.

President Eisenhower called it "a distinct step forward . . . (which) opens new opportunities to the United States and all mankind." The Pentagon echoed his words, accenting the peaceful aspects of launching a satellite the size of a Pullman car.

But early comment from members of Congress indicated a preference to dwell on what it means in military terms.

And even in Moscow, celebrating the 3,000th orbiting of Sputnik III, man-in-the-street reaction was favorable. American reporters, bereft of any official comment, approached a cab driver who said: "Good. It gives us competition."

Eisenhower broke the news dramatically at a White House state dinner for diplomats. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty and Pentagon officials spread the word to reporters and the world.

Launched at 6:02
The Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile was launched at 6:02 p.m. Thursday from Cape Canaveral, Fla. The whole thing, 85 feet long and 10 feet wide, went into orbit.

It is the biggest known man-made object swinging around the globe. Its weight, between 8,700 and 8,800 pounds, nearly doubles the 2,919 pounds of Soviet Sputnik III, fired last May 15.

Sputnik III's rocket, variously estimated to weigh between two and five tons, trailed it until being burned up by air friction Dec. 2.

The Atlas' orbit girdles the earth every 100 minutes at altitudes varying between 118 to 625 miles.

Most Americans can see it, glowing like a star, especially at dusk and in the South. Its estimated life aloft is 20 days.

Washingtonville Project Snagged; So Is Contractor

Forgery charges have been filed in the county clerk of courts office against E. R. Braun, a Warren contractor, in connection with the $174,000 sewer and disposal plant project at Washingtonville.

Mayor Lloyd Culler filed charges for the Village of Washingtonville Dec. 15 against Braun for a "false order intending to defraud the village."

In addition, the Owen Structural Steel Co. filed suit against Braun in Warren Municipal Court last August for $181.17 plus cost and interest for materials.

Trouble arose when the suppliers of the Washingtonville project began to press the village for payment, it was learned. Job materials had been supplied, but not yet settled for, even though Braun had drawn about $44,000 on the job.

Forgery charges were brought against the 28-year-old contractor when village officials discovered that the performance bond which he presented to the village attorney, Devere F. Grpppy of Leetonia, had been altered.

This bond was used originally for a construction job in Youngstown.

Braun, who was bound over to the Grand Jury, is free on a $5,000 bond obtained from the Michigan Surety Co. of Cincinnati.

The village of Washingtonville is holding Braun's equipment worth about $15,000.

The Washingtonville sewage project is at a standstill.

New Estimate of Russian Missile Program Shows Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — An new estimate by American authorities of Russia's missile-bomber progress gives the Red a lower rating than half a year ago.

An assessment made last spring, which indicated substantial leads by the Soviets in several fields of weapons, has been re-evaluated, responsible sources said today.

Now the relative, over-all position of the United States in ballistic missiles appears to have improved. In manned bombers this country retains what the analysts consider a clear superiority.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's recent claim of an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of 8,700-mile range does not seem to have influenced this re-evaluation. Nor are the analysts ready to accept completely reports that Russia is flying a nuclear powered bomber.

The United States may not have a high-performance nuclear bomber flying for another five to eight years.

In the case of the ICBM, U. S. authorities make these points: Khrushchev speaking to U. S. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) in Moscow, did not appear to have claimed that Russia had fired a missile 8,700 miles but merely said Russia had a missile capable of such range.

The second generation American ICBM, the Titan, is expected by its designers to be able to reach out as far as the reported Russian weapon. The first U. S. ICBM, the Atlas — which unlike the Titan has been test-fired—has scored 6,325 miles.

Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, chief of the Air Force's Ballistic missile division, gave a summary of relative American and Russian positions in ballistic missiles last month before the Khrushchev-Humphrey meeting.

Schriever said: At the moment, the Soviet Union appears to have an advantage in ballistic missiles of under 1,000-

A Yuletide Story

By Walter Scott

mile range. The situation was less clear on 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missiles. But Schriever said the American Thor and Jupiter IRBMs have been quite successful in recent tests.

As for the ICBM, he said, "We have no reason to believe that the Russians are appreciably ahead of us" in development.

In long-range strategic bombers, Pentagon officials insist that the United States holds superiority even though the number of bombers might total more on the Soviet side.

New Trial Motion Under Advisement

CLEVELAND (AP) — Federal Judge Paul C. Weick had under advisement today a motion for a new trial for seven persons convicted last January of conspiring to file false non-communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations Board.

The defense concluded its case Thursday.

The seven principals in the case are appealing 18-month prison sentences and fines of $2,500 each. Should Judge Weick uphold the new trial motion, then the U. S. Court of Appeals in Cincinnati would have to remand the case to this district court before his decision could be entered.

All seven persons appealing are free on bond. They are Marie Reed Haug and her husband, Fred, and Hyman Lerner, all of Cleveland; Eric Reinthal of Willowick; James West and Sam Reed of Chicago; and Andrew Remes of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The new trial motion was based on allegations that the chief government witness in the trial a year ago, Fred L. Gardner, had lied when he said he never was in military service and when he said he was divorced in 1945. Evidence was introduced to show Gardner went absent without leave from the Army in 1926 and that he entered into a common law marriage the year before his divorce in 1946.

Wrong-Way Pike Driver Set to Leave Hospital

NORWALK, Ohio (AP) — The driver of a wrong-way car that was involved in a Nov. 7 head-on automobile collision that killed seven persons on the Ohio Turnpike is due for release Sunday from Fisher-Titus Memorial Hospital. Nurses said James H. Hines Jr., 41, of Detroit, sole survivor of the crash, had spent much time reading the Bible. He is recovering from fractures of both arms, a broken knee and other injuries. After leaving the hospital he will be arraigned on seven counts of manslaughter.

Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa has called the fairy folk together and told them of their peril. He asked them where the Hag could be found. "In witches land," said an elf. But she had gone from there, says a witch. — "To the Moon."

Chapter 4

MAN IN THE MOON

"The Hangdog Hag has gone to the moon!" cried Santa. All the fairy folk moaned. Well they knew that if the Hag fled to the moon they could never reach her. The spell she had cast over the professor's wife could not be broken and the professor would release the awful gas that would destroy them all. A little pigwidgeon burst into tears. The wraiths were bowed with grief. The leprechauns hugged one another in fear and even the ghosts turned whiter. Then Esteban tugged at Santa's sleeve. "I could go to the moon," he whispered. "How?" asked Santa. "In your sleigh," said Esteban. "Your reindeer could take me there."

"FI! FI! FI!" cried the man in the moon.

He hated to tire the deer with Christmas so near but he knew that Christmas itself depended on the trip to the moon. So he said, "The deer are ready. They can go anywhere." "Then," said Santa, "I will go." "No, no," protested Tweedle. "You must stay here. There is a mountain of work to be done and if the mission succeeds and there is to be a Christmas we must be ready for it." "It will succeed!" promised Esteban. All the fairy folk agreed that Santa could not be spared and that since Esteban had already done so much he should have the honor of going. So once again the reindeer were put in harness and, with Esteban in the sleigh, took off into the sky. Faster than the wind they went, straight into the heavens. In a few hours they had left the earth far behind and were flying among the stars.

Sometimes it was very hot. Other times it was colder than Santa Land had ever been. ON AND ON and on they went until they reached the highest sky. Here they lost all sense of weight and though the deer sped on it was as if they were floating upward with no effort at all. Esteban had to hold tight to the sleigh or he would have floated off by himself. Now the moon came closer and closer and instead of going upward it seemed to Esteban that they were gently floating down. But when they landed at last the moon was not the beautiful silver ball Esteban had seen from afar. It was gray and barren and desolate and with not a sign of life anywhere — not even a blade of grass.

Esteban stared at the treeless mountains that towered around him. He was frightened and more lonely than he had ever been in his life. "How shall I find the Hag?" he wondered. At that moment he heard a shout and turning he saw an old, old, man hobbling out of the hills. "FI! FI! FI!" shouted the man, waving a stick.

ESTEBAN turned pale and his knees shook. He wanted to run away but there was no place for him to run to. The old man arrived out of breath. "FI!" he gasped and smiled. The smile spread across his whole face and suddenly Esteban understood that instead of "FI," the old man meant to say "HI!" "HI!" cried Esteban smiling, too. "Who are you?" "I?" said the old, old man, raising his eyebrows in surprise. "I am the Man in the Moon."

ESTEBAN turned pale and his

Perry Township Zoning Desirable

Perry Township trustees, without money to finance part of the cost of a zoning survey in the area, have decided against any move toward zoning until such time as funds are available.

Naturally, the trustees do not want to commit themselves to spending money they don't have, but the petitions presented to the trustees by the Salem Area Development Council call upon the trustees to name a five-man committee to proceed with the necessary steps to achieve zoning in the township.

The trustees may find that, according to state law, they must proceed. No one will condemn the trustees for wanting to hold onto what meager funds they might have for completion of a fine roads program next summer, but zoning, it would appear, is highly desirable in the township. The Development Council has promised to raise $1,000 of the $2,500 needed for the zoning plan and it might be entirely possible that county commissioners could offer the other $1,500. Perry Township zoning might provide a model for zoning in some other Columbiana County townships.

The zoning ordinance of the City of Salem went into effect Nov. 28 and unless Perry Township is protected, the suburban area around Salem might become a dumping ground for undesirable features no longer permissible inside the city.

Zoning does not affect existing land use but it does help to achieve a systematic, orderly growth. It protects, rather than hurts. Perry Township needs a zoning ordinance and we hope that the trustees and Area Development Council can proceed with whatever legal and financial steps are necessary.

Willy Doesn't Need to Worry

Secretary of State Dulles has told Willy Brandt, the mayor of West Berlin, he doesn't need to worry about the future of the city.

The Western Allies, including chiefly the United States, will not let anything happen to the one-time capital of Germany. They will prove at any cost that the Soviet Union is wrong in threatening to put all of Berlin at the mercy of the puppet government of East Germany.

Mayor Brandt will be able to take this assurance about the future of Berlin and his official position more literally than some of the rest of us. He has everything to gain and nothing to lose by the determination of the Western Allies, including chiefly the United States.

The rest of us also have something to lose. Before and after World War II ended in Europe, Berlin and the rest of Germany had nothing to look forward to but a lifetime of sipping the bitter gall of defeat. They had no reason to believe their conquerors would treat them any better than they have been treated by the Russians in East Germany. They did not foresee the development that would cause the Western Allies to put more emphasis on embarrassing Russians at the Berlin point of comparison than in punishing Germans.

They did not foresee that the expediences of international power politics would make their conquerors try to restore their strength and their national pride after a war whose stated objective was to destroy Germany utterly as a source of further aggression. The most they dared to hope for when World War II ended was what they have been getting from Russia.

Yet by the end of 1958 they are being told that it has become so important to the Allies to oppose Russia on all things at all points that they need have no fear of being given the Russian brand of treatment. On the assumption there must be many Germans chuckling about a turn of events that has made both them and the Japanese the allies of their conquerors, they seem certain to have a merrier Christmas than they dared to dream of when they lost World War II. To the defeated belong the spoils of World War II.

When Experts Weigh the Evidence

From now until year-end and for some few weeks after, the experts will be deep in calculations of the past, present and future—business-wise.

They are weighing the evidence as it comes to hand by reports, surmises, forebodings and thumb-sucking. They expect to conclude that on the whole there are more rays of sunshine in the black night of despair than they were able to find a year ago when the rising tide of unemployment was running a dead heat with the ebbing tide of production. Since then, things have been looking better.

At the very worst, they have been looking less bad. There has been a slowdown in the slowdown, or to turn it the other way around the pickup in the slowdown hasn't been as rapid as it was when politicians were yelling a year ago to run for the hills because it looked like a long dry spell ahead and the dam was going to burst.

It Will Be Better This Way

One of the most important matters to be settled by the new Ohio General Assembly is whether to allow unemployed workers to supplement state-paid unemployment compensation and how to legalize the practice if it is going to be made allowable.

Great care would be needed in a new law to carry out this purpose, to make certain that Ohio courts would know in years to come exactly what the General Assembly was willing to permit. Otherwise, endless litigation might be the result.

For this reason, it seems ill-considered and unfair to criticize the Ohio Supreme Court for turning over the problem to the General Assembly, which was the effect of the court's ruling that Ohio workers cannot legally collect supplemental benefits under the existing Ohio Unemployment Compensation Act. It is especially unfair to accuse the Ohio Supreme Court of taking a reactionary attitude. Courts exist to interpret law, not attitudes. There is nothing in Ohio law that clearly justifies supplemental unemployment benefits, which never had been heard of when the Unemployment Compensation Act was passed.

The Supreme Court would have had to trespass on the General Assembly's territory to find something in the law that never had been put there. If the new General Assembly wants to authorize SUB, that is its privilege. But for the Supreme Court to have found authorization for something that was never considered when the Unemployment Compensation Act was passed would have been a gross abuse of privilege.

Once Over

VIRGINIA AND THE SALESGIRL
Dear Friend: I am eight years old. Some of my friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa and mamma say a department store salesgirl should know, Virginia.

YOUR LITTLE FRIENDS are mistaken. Take it from me and all my associates, Fifty million sales girls can't be wrong. If there ain't no Santa now come I ache all over.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as my flat feet and backache exist.

Your little friends might as well tell a letter carrier there is no Santa Claus. He exists in the hearts and minds of 150 million Americans, so who am I to argue?

Not believe in Santa? You might as well not believe in fallen arches, nervous breakdowns, and arguments with floorwalkers and customers.

Your friends might watch all the chimneys on Christmas Eve, but if they did not see Santa it would prove nothing. They would do better watching salesgirls.

They don't see Santa, but all those guys in red suits with their whiskers on crooked must be representing him.

YOU MIGHT AS WELL say, Virginia, that because you have never seen Mary Martin there is no Peter Pan.

Your little friends may tell you there is no Prince Charming, as in the Cinderella fairy tale but if that is so how come so many girls fight their way to balls and dances.

They do not say there is no Arthur Murray just because they never met him.

No Santa. A thousand years from now he will continue to be the big man all through Yuletide. And he will feel no older than any salesgirl. I must have lived 999 years in the last 10 days.

I would quit, Virginia, if I did not want to do my bit to make glad the heart of childhood. Tell your little friends I know more about Santa than they ever will. Your pop and mom were smart in telling you to take it up with me.

BACK HOME STUFF. Hillhouse and Boardman High Schools, where we went as a kid, are no more. The bulldozers and steamshovels got 'em. Webster Grammar at York and George Street, where "Jack" Lewis presided as principal and kept rigid discipline, using a strap when necessary, is gone with the wind, too.

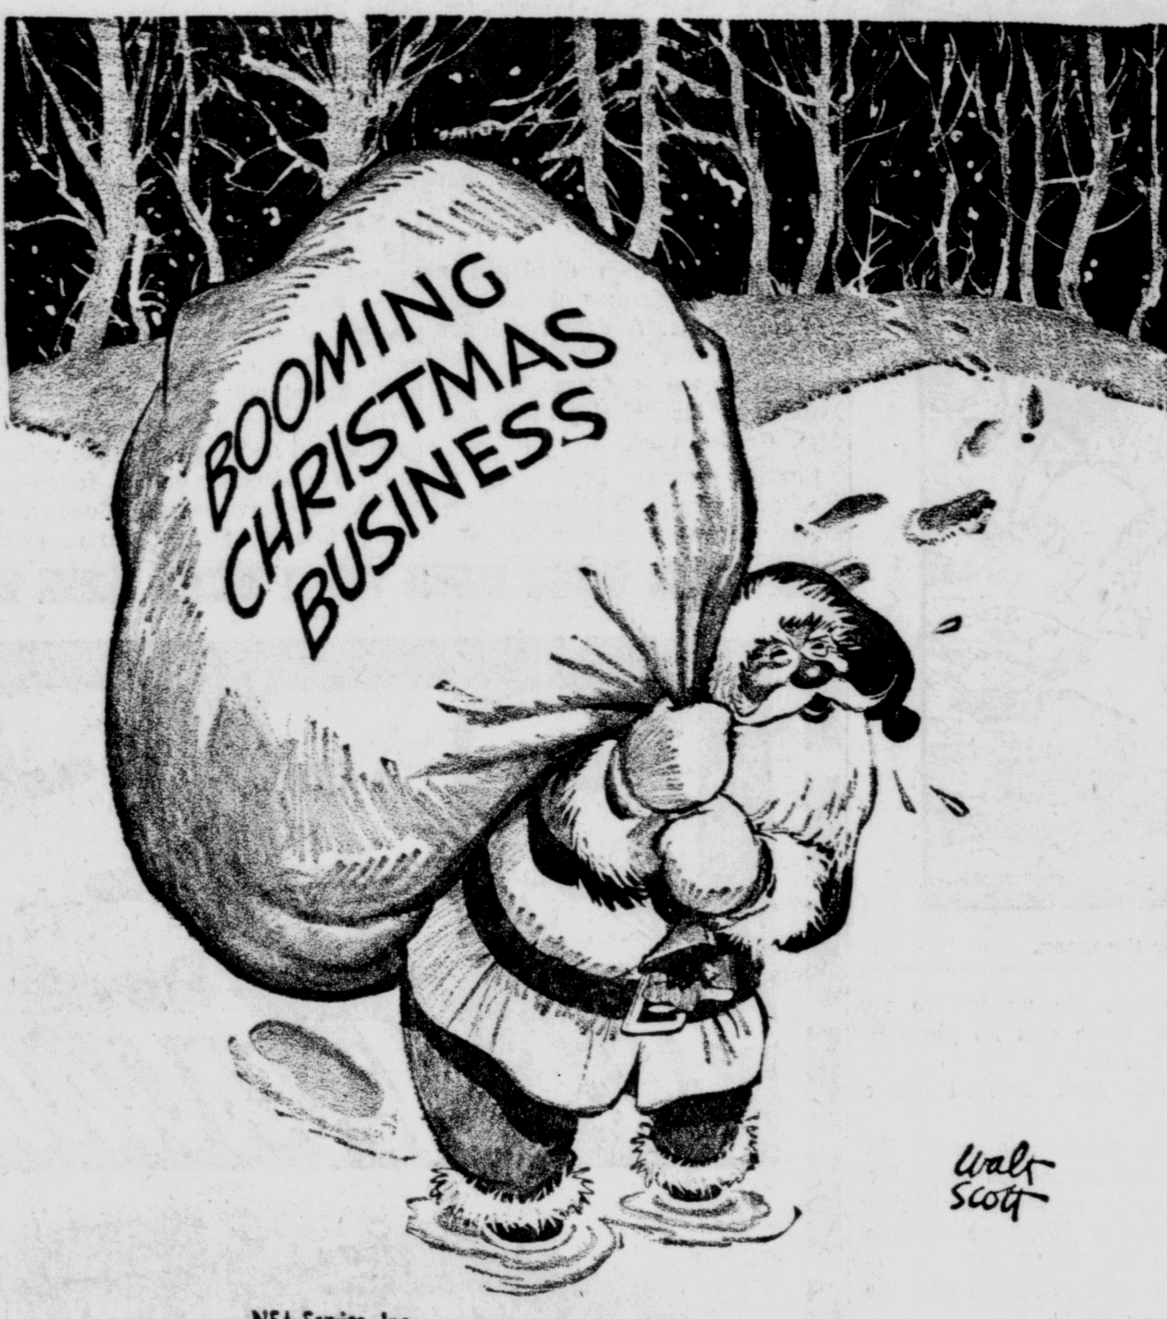

He looked like Robert E. Lee and when he opened the desk drawer, took out a strap, and said, "Hold out your hand," and let you have 20 whacks, he had the effect of one of Lee's best regiments. We got it often in the age when nobody thought discipline was bad for kids.

Few youngsters dreamt of complaining to parents, as it was a day when grownups felt that if their offspring got a paddling he deserved it.

Democratic Contenders

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It is not surprising, as more and more possibilities for the presidential nomination appear on the Democratic scene, that there is more and more talk about getting out the old 1952 model for another run—Aldai Stevenson.

Eleanor Roosevelt, whose voice is important in Democratic ranks, has had some things to say recently.

Commenting that Stevenson is "the best we could have," she added in a television interview that the practical politicians who do the nominating may be looking for a newer model, presumably with higher fins and dual headlights.

One such, whom she regards as possessing a "spark of greatness," is Sen. Hubert Humphrey, the latest of those who have interviewed the oracle in the Kremlin.

Mrs. Roosevelt added that in giving so much time to Minnesota's fast-talking son, Khrushchev recognized him as "a potential power." No doubt, the senator has long been of that mind himself.

THE FORMER first lady was harsh with the man most frequently mentioned as a contender, Sen. John Kennedy. Mrs. Roosevelt's remarks concerning Kennedy reveal her chronic inability to clothe her thoughts with clear language but the basic opinion she holds is very clear indeed.

She does not like Sen. Kennedy and she does not like his father, Joseph Patrick Kennedy, one-time American ambassador to the Court of St. James.

She said among other things in referring to Sen. Kennedy, no doubt having in mind his best-selling treatise, "Profiles in Courage."

"I feel that I would hesitate to place the difficult decision that the next president will have to make with someone who understands what courage is and admires it, but has not quite the independence to have it."

When a man's independence is questioned, the speaker has an obligation, it would seem, to specify who is holding the leash. But Mrs.

Roosevelt did not mention the source of Kennedy's limitations. Thus she left some inferences that are not quite fair.

Of Kennedy, the father, she remarked that he had been "spending oodles of money all over the country in his son's behalf," and that he "probably has paid representatives in every state by now."

TO CLARIFY this, she added that it is perfectly legitimate to have such paid workers. In fact, when her husband, Franklin, was seeking the nomination in 1931 and 1932 he had the advantage of the governorship of New York to provide workers in the great crusade without burdening the family budget.

IT MIGHT BE added that father Joseph Patrick Kennedy's monetary contribution to that cause in those years was not a source of Mrs. Roosevelt's many cares then. Apparently what was cause for Franklin's very grateful received — is not sauce for son John Kennedy now.

This feeling of Mrs. Roosevelt for the Kennedys is no new matter, however. In the first year of the Roosevelt regime in 1933-1934 Louis Howe, who for some reason had a violent antipathy for father Kennedy, labored to block any appointment for him which any contributor—"before Chicago," they called it—might regard as the legitimate reward for help in time of need.

Then and always, Howe was Mrs. Roosevelt's mentor, guide, confidant, and source of almost supernatural wisdom. Perhaps her memory—of which there is published evidence in her many memoirs—carries back to that feud.

While her memoirs show distressing errors of fact, her attitudes are always bright and well polished, notably in her opinions of Smith and Farley.

Many may regard Kennedy as too immature for the tasks of the presidency but it is only fair that this echo of "battles of long ago," when he was only 15 years old, should not be held an obstacle to his ambitions now.

Dulles' Victories

Secretary Knows Softness Is Weakness

Why did Premier Khrushchev start a crisis over Berlin? Why does he carry his nation to the brink of war?

The mystery has not yet been solved, and it may take a flat warning to the Soviet premier—that force will be used by the West to bring a showdown.

Many people, of course, have been assuming that it's all a Soviet bluff and that no war could possibly ensue. History tells us that such wishful thinking is often wrong and that when war is least expected—after everyone assumes it isn't coming—something untoward happens and really forces the final crisis for everybody. Up to the day World War II broke out, there were confident expressions abroad that it just couldn't and wouldn't happen.

Most observers today rationalize that war would be too horrible for anybody deliberately to start. But with troops and nuclear weapons actually mobilized on a war basis by both sides in the vicinity of Berlin, a tragic incident could be precipitated at any moment.

SECRETARY DULLES has just said to the NATO Council in Paris "I am quite certain the Soviet Union will not risk war over Berlin. Therefore we can proceed with confidence."

But it's Mr. Khrushchev's game to make the western allies think he will stop at nothing to get them out of Berlin.

For several weeks now the inside talk among high government officials in Washington and in United Nations circles in New York has emphasized one comment: "The Soviets are getting tougher than ever before."

The technique of toughness is a familiar one in diplomacy. Dictatorships use it shrewdly as a means of bargaining. It is not at all risky to be tough with democracies—they are resilient to the influences of a public opinion which, wishing to avoid war at all costs, gives the impression of being willing to negotiate almost everything. This often implies a possible surrender.

One of the reasons why Secretary of State Dulles is so unpopular with the appeasers and peace-at-any-price exponents is that, through a lifetime of experience in diplomacy, he knows softness is dangerous and, in the end, would bring on the very war that everyone wanted to prevent.

MR. DULLES will be remembered in history as the "man with guts" who stood up to the Communists everywhere. He was jumped upon a few months ago by the timid and the partisan political when he stood up courageously to the Communists in the Far East, refusing to be bluffed on the Quemoy-Matsu episode.

Events since have proved he was right. The Communists didn't dare to precipitate a Far Eastern war. Little is being said now of the Dulles triumph in that part of the world, but it is the significant happening of the year 1958 in the international field.

It is worth noting, incidentally, that some of the same Democratic senators who could not understand what Quemoy meant as a symbol of freedom in the Far East are today saying with respect to Berlin that it cannot be surrendered because it is a symbol of freedom to Western Germany.

Berlin is 100 miles within the Iron Curtain as contrasted with the few miles that Quemoy lies off the Red China coast. Almost every word being said generally now for holding Berlin was being said by the President and Secretary Dulles as an argument for holding on to Quemoy because of its importance to the cause of the Chinese Nationalists.

Mr. Dulles is confident that, if the West maintains a firm policy with respect to Berlin, the Communists will be dissuaded from precipitating a general war.

Everyone here hopes he will be proved right, but the world knows little of what is back of the Khrushchev move and just what strategy he has in mind.

Latin America Problem

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats are moving in to push the Eisenhower administration toward a broadened and perhaps more generous policy in dealing with Latin America, or to break the whole subject wide open for public discussion.

The shocking treatment given Vice President Richard M. Nixon last spring on his Latin-American good will trip forced this country into painful realization that this country's relations with its southern neighbors are far from happy. The problem is complex. Mainly, so far, the administration has been talking of studying the problem.

This week Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the leading possibilities for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, made a speech in Puerto Rico. In it, he offered a 10-point program for strengthening U. S.-Latin-American relations. While not giving Latin America a clean bill of health, he was critical of this country's performance.

That speech cannot help but win him friends in Central and South America. It can't do him any harm either among Latin Americans in this country if he should run for president.

Another Democrat, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, also in the running for his party's presidential nomination, indicated last week he plans a major speech on Latin America.

Sen. George Smathers, a Florida Democrat who is known as a friend of Latin America, has said he expects to introduce in the new Congress a bill to create the post of undersecretary of state for hemisphere affairs.

On top of this, a Senate subcommittee—headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat—was given the task of looking into U. S.-Latin-American relations. It now is making a study and may hold hearings early next year.

The bipartisanship of Democrats and Republicans has been pretty sturdy in areas of the world where communism is a menace, especially where it is or might become a military menace.

There's no present military danger from communism in Latin America. But there is the possibility of future danger, and maybe not too far off, if Communists gain a dominant role in one or more Latin-American countries.

The Democrats may feel less inclined to go along with the Eisenhower administration on problems involving Latin America than on those affecting Europe, Asia or Africa.

When Nixon returned from Latin America last May he made a few public proposals—mostly in generalities—for bettering this country's relations with its southern neighbors. And he conferred privately on the matter with President John Foster Dulles. But Nixon has never come up with any detailed proposals in public.

After Nixon's return, Eisenhower sent his brother Dr. Milton Eisenhower to Latin America. He, too, made few public proposals when he got back here in August.

Milton Eisenhower said he would make more detailed recommendations later, but explained this might take time because of his duties as president of Johns Hopkins University. So far as this writer can learn he has never made those further recommendations.

Recently representatives of this country met with representatives of 20 Latin-American countries to study what needs to be done to provide more U. S. help for Central and South America.

Matter of Fact

Cotton has been used for more than 3,000 years. As early as 1500 B.C. people in India raised cotton, spun the fiber and wove it into cloth. A thousand years later the Chinese were weaving fabrics out of cotton. At that time cotton was unknown in Europe. Wool was the common textile fiber there. When Europeans first learned of cotton, and for many years thereafter, they called it "cotton wool."

Guarding Your Health

'Broken Heart' Remains a Literary Fate

Can grief, worry or despair cause death as the result of a "broken heart"?

Most of the references I have seen to this question have not been in medical books or journals, but rather in romantic novels which tell of some young man or woman disappointed in love who died of a "broken heart."

I DOUBT THAT this can occur. If a young person dies from heart disease after a disappointing love affair, he or she probably had the heart disease before the love affair.

But I do not want to be too rigid about this because the emotions do influence bodily functions. In one form of heart disease, angina pectoris (and possibly others), emotional factors certainly can bring on symptoms of disorder.

For example, one leading physician who had angina pectoris himself many years ago is said to have stated that "his life was in the hands of any rascal who chose to annoy him."

All this has been brought on by a 70-year-old correspondent who wrote that she had a heart condition for the past eight years which she was told was a "broken" heart which has "mended."

However, she adds that she sometimes has chest pains which are relieved by taking nitroglycerin.

It seems almost certain, even at a distance, that this good lady has angina pectoris.

ANGINA is a symptom resulting from a narrowing of the coronary arteries supplying the heart. Pain usually does not develop when the person is resting or exercising only slightly. It comes on when the heart muscle is working harder and needs greater quantities of blood.

Thus someone who has angina pectoris has to learn how much exertion he or she can take without producing pain.

It was often thought that a person with angina pectoris could not live long and could not avoid severe suffering. Both of these beliefs have proved too pessimistic.

MOST ANGINA victims, if they get proper care and adjust their activities, can enjoy life as much as before and have little discomfort, and that only rarely. Furthermore, the outlook for life is not nearly so dismal as was formerly believed.

In addition to the better outlook which is now recognized, methods of improved management are being developed. The amount and kind of exercise can be closely adjusted to the patient's ability. This is made possible in part by the newer methods of finding out how severe the underlying trouble really is.

Moderate Lost to Write-In

Brooks Hays Praised
By National Figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even a loser has his moments of triumph. Such a moment came Thursday night for Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark). Hays, an avowed moderate on the segregation issue, was unseated last month by Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist who ran as a late entry write-in candidate.

In tribute to Hays, about 700 friends and well wishers assembled at a dinner and heard him praised by many national figures. Responding, Hays said the cause of moderation is not hopeless. He called for "an appreciation of what the rule of law means in sustaining our liberties and our property."

Laudatory messages were read from many national figures unable to attend. Included were telegrams from Adlai Stevenson, one of the sponsors of the event; Vice President Richard M. Nixon; Gov. Price Daniel of Texas; and various members of Congress.

Nixon said Hays' "outstanding reputation was enhanced rather than tarnished by defeat."

Among the speakers was evangelist Billy Graham, a member of the Southern Baptist Convention of which Hays is president. Graham said Hays, now completing 16 years in Congress, "has helped lift the word 'politics' out of the mud."

While there were many references to Hays' defeat, there was no mention of Alford, the man who beat him by 1,200 votes.

Alford, however, has no clear path to Hays' seat. A special House committee, by a 3-2 vote, recommended Wednesday that Alford be denied the seat until an investigation is made of charges there were irregularities in the election. The House will decide that matter on Jan. 7.

None of the other Arkansas senators and representatives attended, although Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D) was listed among ticket purchasers and sent a telegram praising Hays as a "fine public servant."

"$120 a month," said Herman Sitt, 32, who makes $60 a week as a gasoline station attendant. "It takes $50 to $75 a week for groceries."

The bulk of the double family's income is $414 a month for aid to dependent children. It goes to the widower, Alonzo Williams, who lives with the Smiths. He isn't working because of a chronic stomach ailment.

"I got love for my brothers and sisters and I can't see 'em livin' anywhere else," she said.

Prestige

Army's Explorer I weighed only 31 pounds, a midjet against its Soviet rivals.

On March 17 the Navy finally got a satellite into orbit too, shooting Vanguard I to a record far point of 2,246 miles to give its satellite a top life expectancy of 200 years. But Vanguard I was a Lilliputian 3 1/2 pounds.

On May 15 the Russians tossed up Sputnik III, 2,929 pounds. It's still going.

Yet the American scientific show was coming to life. An atomic sub nosed under the arctic icecap. The Air force and the Army tried rockets that soared a third of the way to the moon.

An Atlas zoomed on course for 6,325 miles across the Atlantic.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said the Russians had a missile capable of going 8,700 miles. U. S. officials underscored the word "capable," discounting Communist possession of any such operational weapon for at least two years.

American authorities deny Thursday night's launching was a propaganda move. They said it would carry out important communications experiments.

Atlas is big enough to be seen with the naked eye by the millions in the heavily populated areas of the earth over which it was aimed. And its tape recording playbacks are highly convenient for worldwide rebroadcasting by the Voice of America.

Thief Takes Money, Leaves Yule Gifts

A sentimental thief stole 35 cents from the Fairview School near Wellsville overnight but left untouched a number of students' gifts around a Christmas tree, the school authorities said today.

A window on the ground floor of the school was broken into to gain entrance, and money was taken from desks of two teachers, Mrs. Leona Mountford, principal, said.

Deputy Sheriff James Miller is investigating.

artificial moon on two frequencies 107.97 megacycles and 107.94 megacycles.

Moonwatchers at El Paso, Tex., were first to report spotting it visually. They reported at 9:30 p.m. that it glowed at 1 1/2 magnitude, just a bit brighter than the stars in the Milky Way.

Dubbed Operation Score

The Air Force dubbed its satellite Operation Score, after the first letters of the words signal, communications, orbit, relay experiment. These summed up its purposes except for the basic one.

This was to see if the Atlas would fly as faithfully as it did two weeks ago, when it traveled a prescribed 6,325-mile course over the Atlantic.

Of Thursday night's test, the Pentagon said: "Most successful."

But it did much more, as the Pentagon pointed out in a statement: "The entire vehicle achieved an orbit. As such, it is the largest satellite that has been put into orbit by the United States."

More importantly, this marks the first time that a high accuracy missile guidance system has been used to steer such a vehicle into its orbital trajectory."

Thus, in a matter of minutes, the United States proved once more that it has a dependable ICBM and also took the wind out of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's taunts about "lemon-size" U.S. satellites.

There was a novel twist to the launching which sent the Atlas soaring at 17,000 miles an hour.

Mail

while the volume of mail is down 10 per cent the flow of parcel post packages has risen five per cent. Last Monday was the first really busy day that confronted post office employees. Hoover was forced to open three windows in order to accommodate the long lines that formed in front of the windows. Since last Monday he has kept two windows open at all times.

Will Be Open Sunday
Post office windows are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Hoover suggested that people try to mail their envelopes and packages during the "lull" hours which are from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:30 to 3 p.m. each day.

He urged people to address their mail properly. He anticipated that some 2,000 pieces of mail this Christmas will not arrive at a destination because of an improper address.

He says a lot of mail is confused with Solon, Ohio, and he says it even gets more complex when you figure there are 25 cities named Salem in the United States.

Wise Men Reach End of Journey

Adoration of Christ Child Is Reward For Faith

EDITOR'S NOTE: After more than a year of travel, hardships in the desert, disappointment in Jerusalem, the Three Wise Men of the East finally approached a simple abode in Bethlehem. Last in the five stories on the Journey to Jesus, this one records their final joyful triumph of faith.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The house stood against a hillside. It was small, made of unhardened mud bricks. It had no windows. A narrow path led to the doorway, hung with a heavy wool cloth. Beside it leaned a woodman's axe.

As the wayfarers approached, the only sound was the crunching of camel hooves on the red gravel. It seemed quite loud. Melchior's lined face tensed. Nithr h nor his two companions spoke. They stared ahead fixedly.

This was the place. This was their goal. This was the star-touched habitation.

In front of the house, smoke curled from an earthen oven. A waterjar sat nearby, and a millstone. Off to one side of the house was a vegetable patch, and on the other, a little shed built against a Cyprus tree.

Wood shavings littered the ground beneath the open shelter, and on a work table lay knives, wedges, bow-drill, adze, mallet and other carpenter's tools, along with some partly carved yokes and axles.

End of the Odyssey

Travel-spent old Melchior held himself erect, his senses on edge. So here the long odyssey ended—in Bethlehem.

He and the other Magi, who had dedicated their minds, passions and physical endurance to the dream of welcoming God's Premier to mankind, stopped at last—outside a peasant's hut.

Its occupants were not in sight. The three stately callers slid to the ground. Servants, who had quit their burros, took the reins of the camels, tapped their necks and pulled down on the halters, signalling them to kneel.

Hastily, the magians straightened their mantles. Melchior smoothed his long, white beard. Then he stepped to the doorpost. He caught his breath, and knocked.

What answer lay within? What was its compelling power, its strange appeal?

It seemed odd, indeed, that the great eastern scholars should be there. They had wealth, prestige, acclaim. Yet there they stood, with pent-up solicitude, at the doorstep of an obscure Jewish family.

What had engrossed them through the years, and driven them and brought them across half a continent from Persia to this unlikely place?

The reason was plain to them, although few shared their values then, or ever.

They saw, above all man's ambitions, attainments and empires, the overarching, infinite logic of God. They believed He spoke a constant word, in every evolving atom of the universe, to man.

And now, in this time and place, they sensed His most eloquent affirmation.

He had sent His Envoy. Truth had become flesh. The divine vocabulary was rendered in man's terms. God had bent down to man, and His voice rang out on earth.

The King had come! That was why the wise ones were there. That is why they had sat their saddles for months, why they had traversed rugged miles, why they had questioned and persevered, why they stood now at the abode of Joseph, the carpenter.

As they waited, though only for a moment, they could hear as if far off the camels dropping to their knees, then settling in a series of lurches to their bellies with legs folded tightly beneath them.

Who would the Child be like?

An old Persian maxim said "His body resembles light, as His Spirit resembles truth." But the Magi had no preconceptions; they had come, not pronouncing, but inquiring.

The door covering was drawn aside, and the mild, steady gaze of Joseph met theirs. "What seek ye?"

"We seek one in whom God has visited in the person of a child," Joseph surveyed the strangers fully, then bade them enter. "He is here."

The Magians filed through the doorway, Melchior hobbling in advance, followed by the grave dark-skinned Balthasar, and then by Gaspar, young and beardless.

The floor was beaten clay, with a sheepskin mat in the center, and some low benches and utensils against the wall. In a corner, a shirt-clad infant played in a wooden crib.

The quiet, young mother, Mary, picked Him up, smiled faintly and sat down on a bench, displaying Him on her knee. He was a year and some months of age. He looked up with wide-eyed interest at the visitors.

Melchior's lips parted wordlessly. Tears welled in his eyes. Then he and the others knelt on the dirt floor in reverence and worship. They had found their King. They had entered the presence of God's Son.

There, in the ordinary beauty and innocence of a healthy toddler, Providence had provided its ultimate message to man. How often the greatest truth is clothed in simplest array.

To recognize it required humility, the knowledge that knows its lack of knowledge. And this was the character of the Magi.

While exalted scientists sought a world in space, they sought a world in time. They aspired, not to mere appearances, but to meanings. Through faith, they saw intuitively what others never see. Many see the stars. But who could see what the Magi saw? They saw the Star of Bethlehem.

The Child had been given the name "Yeshua," or as the Greeks say, "Jesus," which means "the salvation of Jehovah."

Gifts Presented
Presently, with joyous animation, the Magi hurried outside the house and from their parcels, brought forth gifts and laid them before Him.

Melchior presented gold, red gold, symbolizing a king's power. Gaspar brought myrrh, the resin of burial and death, offering it with tears. Balthasar gave incense, the rich gum of frankincense, signifying Divine immortality.

Mary sat with bowed head. "Thanks be to God."

Tradition says the royal Magi had brought huge coffers of pearls, silk hangings and other luxuries as intended presents, but so as not to offend the dignity of the poor, gave only what they first touched as they reached in their chests.

After their departure, their misgivings about King Herod were intensified by ominous dreams. So they spurned his request to return to him and identify the Child.

Instead of taking the usual route home, northward through Jerusalem to Damascus, they went another way. Some accounts suggest they circled south toward Petra, crossing the copper-colored mountains of Moab.

Other reports say they slipped northward along the coast, departing by ship from the port of Tarsus in Cilicia, where Herod's troops, in vengeful pursuit, later wrecked the whole harbor.

Meanwhile, Herod also wielded his worldly power, and cunning to overcome a child. He sent legions ADORATION OF THE MAGI: This ancient woodcut, taken from a book published nearly five centuries ago, shows how the "Kings of the Orient" appeared to medieval imaginations. Modern research shows the visitors from the East were professional scholars, and "kings" only in poetic sense. The picture is from John of Hildesheim's story of the Three Kings, published in 1484 and now at the Pierpont Morgan Library.

aries to slay all Bethlehem children under 2, "according to the time" of the star learned earlier from the wise men.

But the outcome of that clash shakes history. The seemingly helpless Child won. Joseph and Mary fled with Him to Egypt.

Avoid Herod

The Magi also escaped back toward the rising sun, back to the elevated plateau of Persia, to the vineyards of Shiraz, back to the land of hornless cattle and poetry.

Tradition says the Magi later built a chapel on Mt. Vaus, where they had first seen the star, and that they met there each year hereafter. They are said to have become bishops, ordained by the Apostle Thomas.

It is recounted that their bodies, after they died, were removed from Persia to Constantinople, then to Milan, and in 1163, to Cologne, where they rest now at the Cathedral of Cologne.

The Middle Ages claim that the Magi were kings, and they were, in a sense. They were sovereigns in the realm of wisdom, a royal heritage, behold to its Divine Author.

They were far away when Jesus was born, when Christ came to renew life. But God gave the sign. And as is always the case, they could stay, or journey. To average minds, their decision was folly. They acted with utter abandon. But despite the risks, the imponderables and the distance, those who sought, found.

Buckeye Cagers Face Wildcats in Kentucky Invitational

Holiday Action Across Nation

Oklahoma State to Play West Virginia

By The Associated Press
The merry whirl of holiday basketball tournaments starts spinning in full swing tonight. Four college festivals in the South launch this frantic period that will stretch past New Year's Day.

The University of Kentucky Invitational will take place at Lexington. Blue Grass Festival begins at Louisville. The Birmingham Classic gets under way at Birmingham, Ala., and the Citadel Invitational at Charleston, S. C. First-round games in all four tournaments will be played tonight. The finals will be decided Saturday night.

Second-ranked Kentucky (6-0), host in its own sixth annual invitational, meets Ohio State (1-2) after seventh-ranked West Virginia (6-1), the tournament's defending titlist, has played Oklahoma State (2-2).

Tenth-ranked North Carolina (3-0) faces Notre Dame (1-3) in the first game of the third annual Blue Grass Festival. Northwest (3-0), listed sixth nationally, goes against host Louisville (4-2) in the afterpiece.

Pairings for the sixth annual Birmingham Classic are 13th-ranked Auburn (3-0) vs. Wyoming (2-3) and Alabama (3-2) vs. Texas A.M. (4-0).

The Citadel (3-1) is the host in its first invitational and meets Georgia (3-1) in the second game. Miami, Fla., (4-2) clashes with Florida State (3-3) in the opener.

The fifth annual Quantico Marines Christmas Invitational Tourney ended Thursday night with host Quantico capturing the championship for the fourth time. The Marines defeated American University of Washington, D. C., 69-63.

Tennessee, No. 5, was the only member of the nation's top 10 teams in action Thursday night. The undefeated Vols overcame a five-point halftime deficit to whip Davidson 67-52 for their fifth straight victory.

Bradley (No. 11) posted its fifth triumph in a row by walling Nebraska 85-48 while 18th-ranked Pitt bowed to Westminster (Pa.) 78-63 for the Panthers' second setback in five starts.

Minneapolis Lakers Drub Detroit Pistons

By The Associated Press
The Minneapolis Lakers of the National Basketball Assn. found a shortcut to success Thursday night: Give rookie Elgin Baylor some scoring help and come out a winner.

That is what the Lakers did and they wound up beating the Detroit Pistons 113-104. The Boston Celtics moved to a 1½ game lead in the NA's Eastern Division over the idle New York Knicks with a 104-90 victory over the Cincinnati Royals in the other scheduled game.

For most of the season, Baylor, in his rookie year after an All-America season at Seattle University last year, has carried the Lakers fortunes. He has scored 637 points in 26 games.

Baylor hit for 26 Thursday night, but got help from six other teammates who also scored in double figures. Baylor and Rod Hundley sparked a scoring drive in the final four minutes that minimized George Yardley's 27 points and Phil Jordan's 24, which topped Detroit.

Beaver Local Scores Easy 82-50 Victory Over Newell

Jay Grubb netted 11 goals and seven fouls for 29 points to pace Beaver Local to an easy 82-50 victory over Newell, W. Va., in a basketball game played at Newell Thursday night.

Newell gave the Beavers a tussle in the first period, with the eventual winners on top at the end of the stanza 18-13.

Beaver Local sprinted in the second period to hold a 38-26 intermission lead.

The Beavers netted 20 points in the next frame to 6 for Newell to amass a 26-point margin, 58-32 entering the final stanza.

Undeclared Clubs Meet in Holiday Bowl

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A pair of unbeaten teams with high-powered offenses battle for the national small college football championship Saturday before a Holiday Bowl crowd of some 10,000 persons and national television audience.

Both Arizona State of Flagstaff and Northeastern Oklahoma State are expected to put on a wide-open show that could rival the excitement of last year's Holiday Bowl clash in which Pittsburg (Kan.) State nipped Hillsdale (Mich.) College 27-26.

Each team has averaged better than four touchdowns a game this season in rolling over all opposition. In winning 11 games and stretching their unbeaten streak to 14, the Arizona Lumberjacks have outscored their opponents an average of 28-7. The Redmen from Oklahoma have nearly an identical record, outscoring 10 foes an average of 29-8.

The two teams won Dec. 6 play-off games to qualify for the Holiday Bowl, which the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics bills as its championship game. The Redmen, ranked No. 1 in the NAIA ratings, stopped St. Benedict's of Kansas 19-14, and the Arizonans, No. 2, blasted Gustavus Adolphus of Minnesota 41-12.

CBS will telecast at 2 p.m. EST.

Browns May Crack Giants' Pass Defense

CLEVELAND (AP) — Don't expect the Cleveland Browns to fill the air with passes Sunday on their return to Yankee Stadium—even though Coach Paul E. Brown has indicated his club will pass more than last Sunday.

For one thing, the New York Giants have been tough to pass against. For another, Browns' quarterback Milt Plum lacks experience.

The Giants, who beat the Browns 13-10 in their last encounter to the things up at the top of the Eastern Conference standings and force a playoff, have allowed opponents to complete only 45.7 per cent of their pass attempts. This is the best record in the National Football League. Against the Browns, opponents have completed 51.9 per cent.

Salem's 8th Graders Beat United 59-20

Salem's 8th grade basketball team had things pretty much their own way Thursday at United Local as they defeated the younger Golden Eagles 59-20.

Fred Schramm led the Salem club with 13 points while Wayne "Bink" Washington, actually a seventh grader, canned eight points while playing just in the final quarter.

Dick Ehrhart had seven for Salem while Rick Platt and Cope had six each to aid the winners cause. Other scorers for Salem were Switzer with five, Huffner, Lodge and Dan Franks four each, and Capel with two. Franks is also a seventh grader who played just in the last quarter.

Faloon with seven and Votaw with six led United. Their other point men were Harris with three, McGranhan two and Milligan and Grindol one each.

Salem led 16-4 at the quarter and 27-5 at the half. It was 39-13 going into the last period.

Oberlin Defeats Rochester; BW Edges Rochester Tech

By The Associated Press
Two Rochester, N.Y., basketball teams did not fare well with Ohio cage teams, but they were the only out-of-staters to be defeated Thursday night.

At Oberlin the Yeomen, sparked by Pete Lund, a 6-foot-8 sophomore who contributed 35 points, defeated the University of Rochester 70-56. Oberlin trailed only in the opening minutes in posting its second victory in four starts. Rochester has been defeated five times.

Baldwin-Wallace completed the sweep by edging Rochester Tech 79-74 on the New York's floor. It was the Yellow Jackets first win in five games.

Three other Ohio teams were unable to record victories. Earlham College of Richmond, Ind., was never in trouble and tied only once as it defeated Heidelberg 79-64. The losing Student Princes dropped their fifth game in six starts, but salvaged the night's scoring honors as Gene Wenger dropped in 21 points.

Central State, which hasn't won a game now in eight straight tries, was a victim of Hope College of Holland, Mich., 83-72.

Ohio University was handed a 72-65 defeat by a strong Niagara (N.Y.) team. It was the Bobcats second loss in a row, both of them on the road. They opened the season with three consecutive victories.

In intrastate battles, Wilmington's Quakers boosted their Mid-Ohio League record to 3-0 by defeating Ashland, 72-55, and Cedarville, with Bill Reese scoring 35 points, downed Malone College of Canton, 89-85. Malone's Dan Murphy of Van Wert tallied 31 points to lead the losers.

The tall Giant coach watched his squad persevere through its next-to-last stiff workout for the big playoff game Sunday against the Browns for the right to meet Baltimore in the NFL title game.

"When the season started I didn't think we'd win more than four games. And if I had known about all those injuries I'd have said we'd be lucky to win more than two games."

To what did he attribute the Giants' 9-3 record?

"A great defense, a good bench. Spirit, hustle, will to win, increasing confidence with each victory. Harmony and unity," he said.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

Just seven more days remain until the Quakers take to the home floor against Cleveland East Tech. The contest has been a complete sellout for several days and tickets are at a premium.

The Scarabs represent the greatest attraction of the year in Ohio high school basketball and athletic director Fred E. Cope and other responsible people deserve a pat on the back for giving local fans the chance to witness an undefeated state champion in action.

East Tech doesn't only fill the bill as the greatest basketball team on Ohio's scholastic scene but also the release of frustration for all the immediate area teams that have fallen before Salem.

"Surt, you guys beat us but wait till you play East Tech," seems to be the cry of many neighboring factions.

At this point, it would be most gratifying to see Salem successfully ambush East Tech's triumphant safari and in so doing cause all its neighboring clan of chameleonic rationalists to masticate their own callow verbosity.

TODAY John Broski's Scarabs possess a 30-game winning streak and four starters back from the 1957-58 team which compiled a 26-0 record in winning the state Class AA crown, they reign supreme as an impregnable aggregation.

East Tech, an all-negro club, has size comparable to a professional team.

Along with the four repeaters Broski alternates one of three other men to form his starting five. Depending on which fifth man he uses, East Tech's starting lineup averages either 6-5, 6-3 or 6-3½, respectively.

If Broski wanted to start his five tallest men his team would average 6-4½.

It is rather frightening when you look at East Tech's lineup on paper let alone on the floor.

THE SMALLEST, if he can be called that, of the four regulars of last year is all-state guard Jim Stone. He is 6-2. They go on up from there.

LaMoynne Porter is 6-3, Ken Glenn is 6-6 and Ed Ferguson 6-7.

The only starter who graduated was Capt. Gerald Warfield. He made the field goal in sudden death overtime which gave the Scarabs a one point win over Columbus North in the state finals in Columbus last March.

Warfield was 5-10. His replacement this season has been either 6-8 Gene Lane, 5-9 Sam Franklin or 6-0 Harry Seller.

Three other men on the roster are 6-1 Gene Davis, 6-0 Willie Austin and 6-9 Dave Childress.

Stone, Porter, Glenn, Ferguson and Seller are seniors but 6-8 Lane and 6-9 Childress along with Franklin, Davis and Austin are juniors.

Salem and East Tech each have four players who are averaging in the double figures.

The Cleveland school's highest scorer to date is Glenn with an 18-7 average. He is followed by Stone with a 15-2 clip. Next is Porter whose per game mark is 15.0 while the fourth cager is Ferguson with a 12.5 average.

Salem's best point getter is Woody Deitch. He is averaging 16-0 per game while the No. 2 man is Dan Krichbaum with a 13.3

Retirement Planned By Reese of Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After a brilliant 16-year career, Pee Wee Reese is retiring as a shortstop to become a coach for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Vice President Buzzie Bavasi said Reese could have continued as an active baseball player on another club but that he preferred to be a coach with the Dodgers rather than change uniforms.

Reese starred in seven World Series and played in eight All Star games after replacing another great Brooklyn shortstop, Leo Durocher, in 1940.

22 shots in the last period and finished the game with 22 of 76 for 28.9 per cent. Beaver made six of 30 shots for 20 per cent.

Dates Set for Racing Season

Five Ohio Tracks Still Undecided

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Meet dates have been set for all but five of Ohio's horse racing tracks.

The state racing commission has yet to approve dates for Painesville Raceway, which had asked May 1-June 20; Northfield Park, which had asked May 8-June 27; Grandview, which had asked July 3-Aug. 22; Toledo-Maumee Raceway, which had asked April 22-May 16 and Oct. 7-Oct. 31, and Toledo Raceway Park, which had asked Sept. 11-Oct. 31.

The first three named, all near Cleveland, were told by the commission Thursday to submit new requests for dates.

The commission did not flatly refuse a proposal by Walter J. Michael, president of both Grandview and Northfield, to run racing meetings of both parks at Northfield. But the commission indicated it could not approve the proposal.

Commission chairman Thomas R. Lloyd suggested Painesville ask for 44 racing days beginning April 17, that Northfield begin June 11 and Grandview the first week in August. He said it was likely the tracks would agree to those dates.

The commission will meet again this year, probably Dec. 30, to set dates for those three tracks together with the two at Toledo.

The Randall Park dates were set for July 20-Sept. 8. That track had asked July 18-Sept. 7.

Beulah Park will hold its spring meeting May 2-May 23, as against the request of May 9-May 30. The fall dates of Aug. 28-Sept. 26 were granted. There will be no racing at Beulah Sept. 24, date for the Little Brown Jug at Delaware.

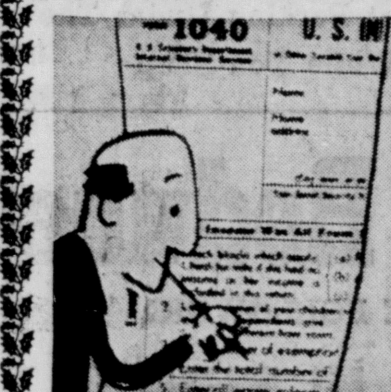

Beulah Park spring dates were changed because the request conflicted with the May 29-July 18 dates granted River Downs, as requested.

Dates granted as requested were:

Ascot Park April 3-May 23, Thistle Down May 29-July 18, Cranwood Raceway Sept. 11-Oct. 31, Columbus Trotting Assn., a new track, June 19-Aug. 8, Hamilton Raceway June 5-July 25 and Lebanon Trotting Assn. May 2-May 30 and Sept. 12-Oct. 3.

The commission also decided to ask the state fire marshal to inspect all race track grandstands and barns before racing meetings begin. This action follows a fire that destroyed the grandstand at Grandview Raceway late in November.

Valdes, McMurtry To Fight in Garden

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes risks his lofty ranking and Pat McMurtry gets his big chance tonight in a heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden.

Nino's voluble manager Bobby Gleason already has claimed the title for the 6-3 Cuban giant with the 81-inch reach.

McMurtry's manager his father, is particularly upset because his son didn't make the top 10 in the National Boxing Assn. ratings after he whipped George Chuvalo in the Garden Oct. 17. Ring was more impressed, placing him No. 10 among Floyd Patterson's contenders.

"I'm ready for the champ right now," said McMurtry, who hails from Tacoma, Wash. He is 26 and owns a fancy left.

His career record, dating back to 1954, is 30-2-1.

Big Nino, rated No. 2 by Ring and No. 4 by the NBA, is the man who really is taking a chance. After dropping a questionable decision to Alex Miteff in February, he has won five in a row. He took a decision over Wayne Bethea and Mike DeJohn, stopped Johnny Summerlin and Harold Carter and then whipped DeJohn again Aug. 15. He hasn't fought since but is a 7-5 favorite.

The Cuban was 34 Dec. 5. He has been fighting pro since 1941, compiling a 46-15-2 record.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Illinois, NYU Battle Set for Television

By The Associated Press
Illinois, bolstering its ratings as a Big Ten darkhorse, is host to New York University in a regionally televised basketball game Saturday afternoon. Five Big Ten teams take on intersectional rivals tonight.

The Illini's only defeat in four starts was to Marquette, 69-53. In that game, Illinois played without Governor Vaughn, second leading scorer for the team with a 12 point average.

Marquette trimmed NYA 70-59 in Milwaukee Thursday night.

In addition to Vaughn, Illinois' balanced attack includes Roger Taylor with a 14.8 average, 6-7 John Wessels, Ed Perry and Manue Jackson. The last three are averaging near 10 points.

NYU has won two of four starts, defeating Columbia and Boston College.

Round Table to Carry Top Weight in Race

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Top weight of 132 pounds has been given Round Table, "Horse of the Year" for 1958, for the $145,000 guaranteed Santa Anita Handicap, Feb. 28.

Racing Secretary Jimmy Kilroe assessed Maine Chance Farm's Jewel's Reward second high at 119.

Round Table's 132 is the highest weight assigned in the Santa Anita Handicap since Calumet's Citation finished second with that impost to Noor in 1950.

Round Table won the race last winter with 130 and set a Santa Anita track record of 1:59 4-5 for the mile and one-quarter.

Rocky Colavito Topped AL In Slugging

CHICAGO (AP) —Rocky Colavito, Cleveland's hard-hitting outfielder, led the American League last season in slugging with a .620 average.

Colavito finished far ahead of New York's Mickey Mantle, Kansas City's Bob Cerv and the 1957 champion Ted Williams of Boston. Mantle and Cerv climaxed the season with identical .592 averages and Williams, who won with a mark of .731 last year, finished fourth with a .584.

Colavito had 303 total bases in 489 times at bat. His 41 homers were second only to Mantle's 42. He hit 26 doubles, 3 triples and drove in 113 runs, a total exceeded only by Jackie Jensen's 122 for Boston.

Mantle drew the most bases on balls, 129. In 1957 he led the league with 147. Of Mickey's 129 passes, 13 were intentional.

The champion Yankees led the league in team slugging with a .416 average. Cleveland was second with .403 followed by Boston with .400.

Giants' Don Chandler Is Topnotch Punter

NEW YORK (AP)—Who is the New York Giants' best runner? Best passer? Best punter? It is one and the same man — Don Chandler.

Chandler carried once this year on a fake punt against Baltimore and gained 15 yards. That stands as his average for the season. He passed once and completed it for a gain of 27 yards and a 1,000 percentage. The average for his 65 punts is 44 yards, second only to Washington's Sam Baker in the National Football League.

Although Coach Jim Lee Howell doesn't count on Chandler to do much running or throwing Sunday against Cleveland in the playoff for the eastern division title, he does count heavily on his punting.

Chandler is an Oklahoma boy who went to Florida to play college football. He was a quarterback in high school and junior college and a halfback at Florida under Bob Woodruff.

As a pro, Chandler seldom does anything but kick. But he always has the option from Howell to run on his own if there is a run open. Giant fans were as startled as the Baltimore staff when he faked a punt and ran against the Colts.

"I have been kicking a football as long as I can remember," he said. "I don't remember who taught me. It just seemed to come naturally."

GETS 'FREE' TREE

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Richard Goodman got a Christmas tree for free this year, but he's considering buying the tree next year.

Goodman spent 26 hours on a trek to nearby Snowy Range to cut a tree, and car troubles on the snowy mountain roads cost him $236.30.

Sunday. Following the program a volunteer group will go caroling and meet later at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Woodall for refreshments.

All singers taking part in the Christmas Eve candlelight service at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet at the Church Sunday at 2 p.m. for final rehearsal.

The confirmation class will meet with the pastor in parlor Sunday at 6 p.m.

Luther Leaguers and the Junior Choir will meet in the Church at 6:30 to go Christmas caroling. Refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies will be served following the caroling.

The first year catechetical class will meet Saturday at 10 a.m.

TWO HUNDRED and fifty enjoyed the Christmas program and party at St. Paul's Lutheran Church last Sunday evening which was sponsored by the church School, Supt. Frank Painter and assistant, James Mellinger.

Mrs. Clarence Barnes, superintendent of the beginner's department arranged the program. The "littlest" children performed for parents, grandparents, and friends. Their singing was directed by Joyce Baker and Mrs. Marquis Farmer, accompanied by Ellen Long.

The Primary - Kindergarten department superintendent, Mrs. Lealand Helt, gave an interesting presentation of the Christmas story by flannelgraph. The narrator was Terrie Reese.

A group of boys and girls of the Junior department sang "Holy Night" a capella under the direction of Mrs. Elwood Zeigler. Preceding this part of the program there was a showing of a sound-color picture of puppets, courtesy of the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, depicting Christ's Birth in Bethlehem and the visit of the Wise Men. Robert Theil, James Gintner, and the pastor presented this part of the program.

There was also a showing of a picture illustrating the poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," following the above program and just before the annual visit of Santa to distribute gifts to all children present.

A financial gift was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Laughner.

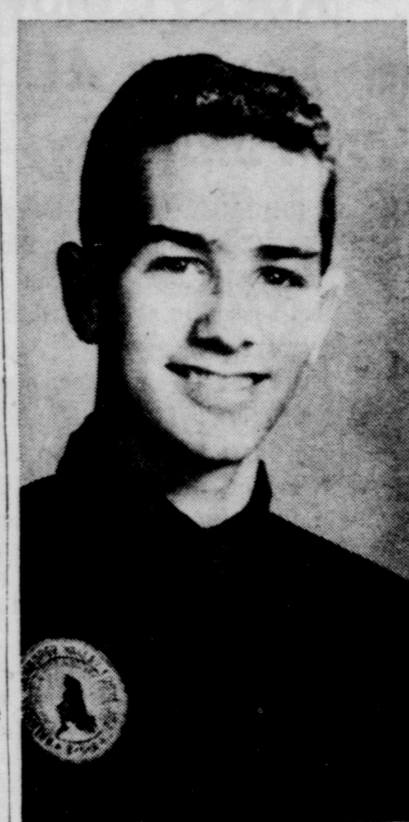

The evening was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments by the members of the Priscilla Club and the Friendly Class.

Cash Dividends Down From November '57

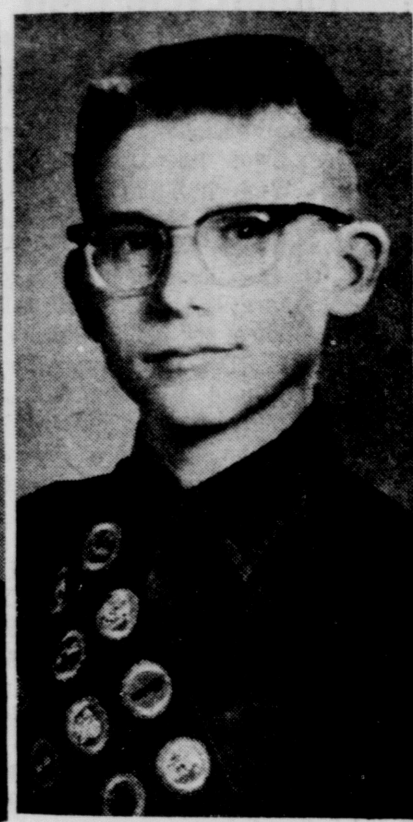

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corporations paid cash dividends of 298 million dollars in November, down from 325 millions a year earlier.

The Commerce Department announced the figure today and said more than half the decline was due to shifts in the timing of payments. It added that several industries particularly affected by the recession reported lower disbursements.

COLUMBIANA — Five Eagle awards will be presented Tuesday evening, Dec. 30, to Explorers of Boy Scout Troop 16, sponsored by the Columbiana Methodist Church. All five have been active in scouting, and all attended the national jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.

The dinner will be a coverdish affair served by mothers of boys in Troop 16. It is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at Dixon school, with Gray Sterling, author, lecturer and scoutmaster, as guest speaker.

The Explorers due for the top honor, and their records, are:

Last Sunday he received the Ad Altare Dei award — highest honor in Catholic Scout circles — at St. Columba's Cathedral in Youngstown.

DEAN HETRIC, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hetric. A Columbiana freshman, he has spent three years in the scouting movement, and has served as patrol leader, assistant patrol leader, patrol scribe and den chief.

Arrangements for the dinner are under the direction of Mrs. Al Ferguson, assisted by Mrs. Jack Lindsay.

Bounty Paid on 637 Sets of Fox Feet

LISBON — Six hundred thirty-seven sets of fox feet have been turned into sheriff Russell J. VanFossan's office since Jan. 1, 1958 the sheriff reported today.

Hunters receive $3 for each set of feet from foxes killed in Columbiana County.

Auditor J. J. Vorndran's office placed $1,800 in a fund this year to pay the bounty established by the commissioners in 1951 after numerous complaints that foxes were destroying wildlife. It is expected that the commissioners will authorize more money to be placed in the fund to finish out the year.

Hunters in Columbiana County report there are many foxes at large. They base their claim on tracks found in rural areas during the recent heavy snow.

Laugh Master

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It takes a real laugh master to retain the true comedy touch for three decades.

One who has never lost his skill at tickling the national funnybone is Hollywood director Leo McCarey.

"I'm accused of being the laziest man in the business," said Leo, who has a weatherbeaten face and dark snapping eyes.

"In over 30 years I've only made about 25 pictures. Some men in that time have turned out 200, or even 300."

But McCarey has won three Oscars and been nominated for two more. And his roster of films include such landmarks as "The Awful Truth," "Ruggles of Red Gap," "My Favorite Wife," "Indiscretion," "Going My Way," and "The Bells of St. Marys."

Leo over the years has been one of Hollywood's top money earners. He has a great gift for friendship, and his friends have ranged from Jack Dempsey and the late Jack Barrymore to a host of colorful unknowns, in practically every walk of life.

An associate said this is McCarey's unspoken creed: "Never go up the hill alone."

Son of a famous West Coast boxing promoter, Leo became a lawyer and still brags he retired from active practice with a perfect record: He never won a case.

He started in pictures as a script clerk, directed a number of the Charlie Chase and Laurel and Hardy comedies. They gave him a love for pantomime that has never left him, and he still likes to write with his camera as much as his typewriter.

"Everything I do is partly visual," he remarked. "I love pantomime. I revel in it. Words are necessary, but the movies are still a very visual art. I like wherever possible to let action tell the story."

Whether he takes a writing credit or not, Leo almost always takes a firm hand in shaping the final script.

"Nobody should tell a story who is not a story teller," he said. "The writer is the story teller, and the future of movies is to have more directors who are also writers."

"I find it easier to direct characters I have created rather than those created by someone else. You know them better as people."

A stout defender of Hollywood, McCarey says its biggest need now—and always has been—fresh ideas.

"The truth is," he added, "that every time you have a novel idea, it is hard to find people willing to put their money into it — because it doesn't remind them of something else that has been successful."

Film, 'Buccaneer' Will Be Shown Here

A motion picture in the Cecil B. DeMille tradition, "The Buccaneer," will be shown at the State Theater here Sunday through next Friday.

The film stars Yul Brynner as the pirate, Jean Lafitte.

Others in the cast are Charlton Heston as Gen. Andrew Jackson, and Claire Bloom, Charles Boyer and Inger Stevens.

The picture, in technicolor, was directed by Anthony Quinn.

The story relates how the United States, fighting to stop the tide of the British advances on New Orleans in 1812, enlisted the aid of Lafitte in exchange for "forgiveness" by the government for his acts of piracy.

Guilford Bible School Will Present Program

The Guilford Bible School will present its Christmas program on Monday evening at 7:45 at the school.

The program is being arranged by Mrs. Henry Honeywell, Mrs. John McConner and Mrs. Elmer Stout. Miss Kathryn Bailey will be pianist.

HIGHWAY RE-OPENED

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

In a series of unpublicized, private conversations with his avowedly conservative advisers, President Eisenhower has been discussing possible laws which could throw the brakes on labor's streamlined political machine. Whatever the President decides will show up sharply in the special labor message he will send to Congress late in January or early February.

From out of these conferences comes word that he is disturbed by the pile-driving success of labor's political forces and general ship. The President knows adroit tactics when he sees them. And their smash - through in states with 100 years of traditional Republican victories has startled him.

But he has not decided whether he will push for laws which would turn a government key on labor's treasuries and also prevent the unions from using their headquarters, manpower, phones and business agents in the 1960 election.

AMONG THOSE with whom the President has talked in off-the-record sessions is Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield — certainly one of the Republican party's most influential strategists.

The postmaster, traditionally the tactical general of the party in power, wants the President's stamp of approval on a series of laws which would take labor out of politics — and out of a lot of other activities too.

In one of their most recent talks, it was learned, the postmaster indicated that he would become a political lightning rod and draw labor's fire with public proposals that some tough laws be passed. The President's fire was unavailable. But the postmaster general made such a speech.

This he unleashed recently before 3,000 delighted delegates to the National Assn. of Manufacturers' annual industrial congress. The NAM now is helping distribute "hundreds of thousands" of copies of the talk. And this is a speech with a built-in sledge hammer, for Mr. Summerfield says in part:

"I feel ... deeply about the political onrush of the organized part of American labor, gathered up in phalanx, its millions of dollars and thousands of trained political manipulators drawn up in battle formation to seize control over our governmental processes. ... 'I THINK it is high time that the American people demand that the political activity of organized labor be brought within reasonable bounds and clearly governed by law — just as the political activity of all other individuals and groups in this nation are governed by law. 'I think it is absolutely un-American for labor bosses to be permitted to spend union dues in political efforts that are often in direct opposition to what the dues-paying union member himself wants. This must be corrected by law.'"

There is every reason to believe that President Eisenhower was aware of the contents of Mr. Summerfield's speech before it was made. There has been no repudiation of it.

It was this speech which moved AFL-CIO President George Meany to attack Mr. Summerfield and threaten to launch a third party.

There is more to the deluging of America's executive suites with copies of the Summerfield speech than is apparent.

THE POSTMASTER and his supporters want to prove to the President that their attitude is reflected by business people and some of the public, too, if possible.

They hope, in turn, that the White House will be swamped with demands for union curbing laws.

For standing against Summerfield during Cabinet discussions is a one-man phalanx — Secretary of Labor James Mitchell.

Mr. Mitchell has not yet seen the President alone. But he has been making himself heard in conferences with Vice President Richard Nixon, who in this battle is backing the conservative bloc.

So, if you've got an odd dollar, you can place it safely on the Mitchell-Nixon group in the Cabinet. They're backing the same proposals the President sent up last year to crush the rackets and to safeguard union democracy — no easier, no tougher proposals.

Here, too, you've a preview of the in-fighting at the 1960 GOP nominating convention.
